Big night expected for Big Dog Cup

Live music, rides and thrilling greyhound racing are sure to keep the crowd entertained this Thursday night at the Albion Park Raceway.

Velvet Kiss will again be performing rock classics and children will be delighted to bounce about in the jumping castles.

While there is plenty to keep people busy in the stands, it is on the race track where the action is set to be fever pitched.

Dashing Corsair will again be searching for group racing glory as he takes on a quality field in the final of the Group 3 Big Dog Cup over 600m.

Having drawn the coveted one box and boasting a record of five wins from as many starts Dashing Corsair will start favourite with the punters.

Unfortunately for punters and spectators alike the Jason Thompson trained Next Top Model has been scratched from the final due to injury. The top son of Surf Lorian was expected to be the main danger for Dashing Corsair. Despite the withdrawal there are still seven other greyhounds that will be surging to deal Dashing Corsair his first defeat at this distance. Leading the charge will be the interstate pair of Reign Over Me and Pulp. While Velocity Regina will be lining up at add another group racing victory to her growing list of credentials.

Which ever way the cards fall tonight the G3 Big Dog Cup is set to be a thrilling race and a fitting end to a great Winter Chasing Carnival at the Albion Park Raceway.
